

Important new skills come from outside, then inside, then become core to leadership, and then it becomes pervasive.

